

April 4, 2006

Disco grabs the next generation

BY PAIGE WISER Staff Reporter

There's so much we have to teach our children: good manners, the alphabet, the subtle distinction between forks going in our mouths (good) and a fork going in our baby brother's eye (bad).

Don't let disco slip through the cracks. Introduce your kids to the joy of Bee Gees. Baby Loves Disco is an afternoon dance party that's already a hit in New York City – even the toddlers are trendsetters in New York.

The under-7 set can shake their diapers to "Shake Your Booty," while their parents enjoy the brief reprieve from all things Elmo. If the beat gets too boisterous, kids can take a time-out with a leisurely juice box break. Toys, books and quieter corners will be available, too.

The first Chicago date is April 9 at the Park West, 322 W. Armitage, from 1-4 p.m. Tickets are $10 at Park West (773-929-5959) or Ticketmaster (773-559-1212). Future dates at Park West are to be announced. On May 14 and June 11, Baby Loves Disco invades Walter Payton's Roundhouse in Aurora (630-264-2739).

For more information, visit babylovesdisco.com.